Dear Valued Customer,

RE: SUNTAN PIGGERY PORK

I am writing to confirm that the pigs at Suntan Piggery are free range and antibiotic and hormone free.

At Suntan Piggery, we are committed to producing the highest quality products while following sustainable agricultural practices. All of our pigs are raised in a free range environment, where they are able to roam freely and have access to plenty of fresh air and sunshine. We do not use any antibiotics or growth hormones in our production process, ensuring that the pork you purchase is of the highest quality.

We understand that you care about where your food comes from and we want to reassure you that Suntan Piggery is committed to the ethical and humane treatment of our pigs. We are proud to provide you with the best quality pork, raised in a natural environment with the highest standards of animal welfare.

Thank you for your continued support of Suntan Piggery. We look forward to continuing to provide you with the best quality pork for years to come.

Sincerely,

Ronel Claassen

At Milkwood Farm, we are passionate about biological farming systems and strive to work with nature, not against it.

All the milk for our wholesome range of dairy products is sourced exclusively from our own herd of free-range milking cows.

Our milking herd is pasture based and no antibiotics, growth stimulants or hormones are added to their feed.

We have a scheduled herd visit every month by a veterinarian who helps look after the health of our herd.

In the unlikely event that there is, for instance, a cow who the veterinarian prescribes an antibiotic to for a very specific veterinary condition, then we will treat the cow accordingly but with very strict protocols in place to ensure the milk from that specific cow is kept separate from all the other milk and is not used for human consumption.

Hope this helps explain how we keep all Milkwood Dairy Products wholesome and safe.

Regards, Phil Muller

SEVEN SPRINGS

VINEYARDS

Seven Springs Vineyard is a premium wine producer, situated on the R320 Hemel en Aarde Valley road, between the seaside town of Hermanus and the spa town of Caledon, in the picturesque Western Cape, South Africa.

The vineyard nestles between Shaws Mountain to the north and the Teslaarsdal Mountain Range to the south, with Walker Bay and the Atlantic Ocean beyond these mountains.

It is this oceanic influence, coupled with our shale-derived soils, known locally as Bokkeveld Shale, that gives our vines the potential to produce exceptional grapes from both north and south-facing vineyards. Noble varieties, Chardonnay, Sauvignon Blanc, Syrah, and Pinot Noir, have been planted to express the full potential of each cultivar.

Our wines are lower in sulphites and the reds are vegan-friendly.
